

Anne Roos
Celtic Harpist

Your Wedding

"Thank you for the beautiful music... You added a classic touch to our wedding ... the tender romantic music seemed to magically flow from your fingertips ... our hearts were touched."

Anne Roos began her performing career at Renaissance fairs and quickly became a favored soloist for many other types of events – especially weddings. The dynamics and exquisite beauty of the Celtic Harp is unsurpassable and especially suited for a wedding. The musical experience is delightful, as it lends a charm and elegant touch to any event. Celtic Harp music is often characterized as "ethereal" providing a unique contrast to otherwise traditional musical entertainment.

Playing her Celtic Harp for weddings has become the cornerstone of Anne's performance career. She offers an extensive selection of traditional classical wedding music, religious and secular, as well as the authentic wedding music from many different cultures. Anne's ability to faithfully play a wide variety of music has helped establish her popular acclaim and offers her the flexibility to play for every element of wedding festivities whether the rehearsal dinner, the ceremony, or the reception.

Anne Roos' music repertoire spans traditional Celtic (Irish, Scottish, Welsh), English, folk, religious and secular, Early, Renaissance and classical music, to Broadway, contemporary, pop and Jazz, and is virtually unlimited. She can easily provide the traditional "Canon in D" by Pachelbel for the processional and "Here Comes the Bride" the bride's entrance, and then play those Frank Sinatra tunes for Uncle George and Beatles for Cousin Sue at the reception.

Anne Roos has arranged and recorded a special Celtic wedding CD called "Haste To The Wedding" which includes Celtic music performed on solo harp with an ensemble of traditional instruments. "Haste To The Wedding" has become very popular with couples looking for romantic music to accompany their wedding festivities. This recording of Celtic wedding ceremony music is packaged inside a lovely 48-page hard cover book containing vintage color images, Celtic toasts, blessings, legends, recipes, wedding traditions, and descriptions of traditional ceremonial attire.

To help you plan your wedding music, Anne offers complimentary consultation either in person or by phone. A phone or live audition can also be arranged by appointment. Anne will make every effort to accommodate your special music requests.

As well as providing the perfect music for your wedding, Anne can style her attire according to the theme and colors of your event. Her extensive wardrobe includes period costumes.

To assure that large numbers of guests can comfortably hear the beautiful Celtic Harp, Anne will provide a small microphone and amplifier, careful as not to alter the natural sound. More information on amplification can be provided upon request.

Anne Roos and her Celtic Harp are available to perform at weddings and special events anywhere in the country, or the world. A promotional package and list of references is available upon request.
