Anne Roos Teams up With Banjo Bunny E-Cards

If you just happen to be surfing about the Internet and fall down a rabbit hole filled with some fuzzy banjo pickin'-critters that are considered the most original whimsical, inventive, and funny animated e-cards in the universe, you aren't lost. You've just discovered Banjo Bunny E-Cards! And Anne Roos is pleased and tickled to announce that her music is now part of these fantastic and absolutely unique Internet greeting cards.

Anne's music premieres on Banjo Bunny's newest Thanksgiving e-card: "Grateful Harp". This card is graced with the song "Epping Forest", an old English dance tune dating back to 1670. The full version of this tune is a track from Anne's A Light in the Forest CD. What a fabulous way to sample the tune (you can purchase it as a download on iTunes and Amazon.com).

The gorgeous photography in the Grateful Harp e-card was shot by Susan J. Preston, Bunny in Charge at Banjo Bunny E-Cards. When you visit her rabbit hutch at www.banjobunny.com, you'll find more than 150 E-Cards from which to choose--A number which, like bunnies, continues to multiply. Banjo Bunny's mission is simple--To reduce the amount of droopy-eared depression in the world, one elegantly goofy e-card at a time.

Like multiplying bunnies, there are many more e-cards on their way that will include Anne's music. So, what are you waiting for? Hop to BanjoBunny.com and start sending those magical cards!

And for Anne's music, check out A Light in the Forest and all of her CDs on many online stores such as Amazon.com and CDBaby.com. They are also available for purchase at retail outlets such as Barnes and Noble Booksellers and Borders stores. Autographed albums can be purchased at www.celticharpmusic.com, the only place where you can buy three of Anne's CDs for the price of two--a money saving option for holiday gifts.
